Bible study group considers starting new mission in Beverly/Morgan Park

Your prayers are requested for the next six months as a Bible Study group begins meeting for the next six months in homes in the Beverly/Morgan Park neighborhoods and the surrounding south suburbs. The study group, which held its first meeting on Sunday, Feb 3, will over the next six months consider making a formal request to Diocesan Convention for recognition as a mission congregation. Many of the persons at the first meeting were members of Church of the Mediator which closed at the end of December 2007.

If you know if of anyone who lives on Chicago's South Side or the surrounding suburbs, and believe they might be interested in joining the Bible Study group, please contact The Rev. Donald Frye at 630-290-6704 (cell phone) or by email at padrefrito@comcast.net. The group will meet each Sunday at 1 pm in the homes of group members.

Stained glass dedication honoring martyred Uganda archbishop

St. Edmund's Episcopal Church, Chicago will observe Black History Month with the dedication of a stained glass window honoring Janani Luwum, Archbishop of Uganda, who was martyred February 16, 1977 by Uganda security forces under orders of dictator Idi Amin. The dedication will take place during the 10:30 am Eucharist at St. Edmund's on Sunday February 17. The Rev. Petero Sabune, a nominee for Chicago's episcopal election last November, will be the preacher. Sabune is Episcopal chaplain at New York's Sing Sing Correctional Facility and associate rector of Trinity Episcopal Church in Ossining, N.Y. St. Edmund's is located at 6105 S. Michigan.

Youth Pilgrimage to St. James Cathedral to view Keiskamma Altarpiece

The Bishop of Chicago and the people of St. James invite the youth of our diocese to make a pilgrimage to the Cathedral on Saturday March 29 to welcome the return of the Keiskamma Altarpiece to Chicago. The Altarpiece will be on display through Eastertide, the last installation before its return to South Africa.

The Altarpiece was created by women of Hamburg, South Africa as a hope filled response to the tragedy of AIDS in their community. It stands 14 feet high and 22 feet across, three layers deep, opening layer after layer to tell the story of their lives – their courage and their faith. This day offers us all an opportunity to encounter the Spirit in art, in community, in worship.

Plan to accompany your young people to the Cathedral to meet our new bishop and to open imaginations to God's workings among us. For information call the cathedral office (312) 787-7360 or email dcampbell@saintjamescathedral.org

Sue Easterwood to retire the end of March

Sue Easterwood will be retiring the end of March after 22 years as administrative assistant to the Bishop of Chicago. Anne Cothran, currently administrative assistant to Assistant Bishop Victor Scantlebury, has been appointed administrative assistant to the new Bishop of Chicago, Jeffrey Lee. A position opening announcement will be posted later this month for the administrative assistant to the Assistant Bishop.

Kennon Callahan returns for church development conference

Church development expert Kennon Callahan will lead his second conference for the Diocese of Chicago on April 7, 8 and 9 at St. Michael's, Barrington. In Leadership Resources for a Missional Church, Callahan will teach participants how to grow generous congregations, ones which focus on bringing ministry and mission to the real hurts, hopes, and needs of the community. His advice centers on twelve characteristics of effective congregations; six Relational and six Functional.

The sessions run from 1:30-5:00 and 7:00-8:30 pm. Registration is for diocesan members (lay & ordained) is $100; the rate for non-Diocese of Chicago registrants is $250 (meals not included). Please register by March 28. (see attached registration form). For information contact Elizabeth Erickson (312) 751-4212 eerickson@episcopalchicago.org

Diocese and Seabury-Western collaborate on clergy mentoring

The Diocese of Chicago and Seabury-Western Theological Seminary have initiated a collaborative program that will lead to certification in congregational development for seminarians studying for Master of Divinity degrees. The new program will be an extension of the Making Excellent Disciples clergy mentoring program operated by the diocese's Office of Ministry Development. In operation since 2002, the Making Excellent Disciples (MED) program places newly ordained clergy in mentoring congregations for two years, after which they move on to serve as rectors and vicars of "mustard seed" congregations, ones that average fewer than 150 in average Sunday attendance but are poised for growth. The MED program currently has ten MED curates. The new program will place seminarians in both mentoring congregations and mustard seed congregations for two years. Participating seminarians must fulfill all field education requirements of Seabury-Western and spend an additional five to ten hours a week in ministry in the congregation. The seminarians will be required to take two congregational development courses in addition to the basic seminary curriculum during the two years they are participating in the program. Each seminarian selected for the program will receive a $2,000 annual stipend, and each mentoring congregation will receive a $2,000 grant. Seminarians participating in the program will be appointed by the bishop of Chicago and the dean of Seabury-Western. For further information contact the Rev. Canon Clarence Langdon clangdon@episcopalchicago.org

Formational meeting for founding of Integrity chapter

[Editor: we are publishing this notice at the request of the organizing group. Integrity was founded in the Diocese of Chicago in the early 1970s, and until recent years had an active chapter here. It is an affiliated organization with the Diocese of Chicago.]

Beginning in the spring of 2007 a small group of persons began to explore the possibility of again forming an Integrity chapter in the Diocese of Chicago. That conversation has continued and attracted a grass roots group of committed and hardworking persons who have completed the groundwork necessary to form the Northern Illinois Chapter of Integrity.

We have heard the argument that there is no longer a need for Integrity in the diocese because lesbian, gay, bisexual, transgendered, queer, and questioning (LGBTQ) persons are now fully welcomed and integrated into the life of local congregations and the diocese. Yes, this is true for many, particularly within the city, but we have discovered this is not true for many others. In addition, the ongoing debates about gay marriage at the state and national levels and about the blessing of same sex unions and the ordination of bishops who are lesbian or gay in our own Anglican Communion continue to leave many within and beyond the church wondering whether they genuinely have a full and equal place in the life of the church or whether they genuinely want to be part of the church.

Given these realities for many LGBTQ persons in our diocese, the grass roots organizing group believes that a local chapter of Integrity, like the national level organization, is needed. We envision the local chapter being a safe place where LGBTQ persons will be invited to tell their stories, both joyous and challenging, speaking about those things which are important to them as persons of faith. Beginning from this place of listening, we then see the local Integrity chapter becoming an articulate voice for education, leadership development and advocacy at the local level while collaboratively supporting the work of Integrity at the national level.

We also know that to be effective and credible the local chapter will need to include the broadest possible representation of LGBTQ persons and their friends, families and allies from throughout the diocese. With that in mind we cordially invite all interested persons to attend a meeting of the grass roots Integrity formation group at St. Peters Church, 621 West Belmont in Chicago, on Saturday, March 1 from 2:30 – 5:00 PM. So that we can make appropriate arrangements for space and refreshments, please RSVP by February 25 to John Larson (jvlarson@aol.com or 815-886-6951) or Sharon Hamman (shamman@comcast.net or 847-420-9363).

It is requested that all churches communicate the above announcement to their congregations between now and February 25.

EVENTS

The Death of the Beautiful Young Man: The Erotics of Christian Redemption

Seabury-Western Theological Seminary has added intensive weekend offerings to the 2007-2008 academic curriculum. This spring, John Dally, Seabury's Associate Professor of Christian Communication, will offer The Death of the Beautiful Young Man: The Erotics of Christian Redemption, which is open to the public for enrichment as well as credit.

Please contact Seabury Registrar Peggy Pearson, 847-328-9300 x. 44 or peggy.pearson@seabury.edu for more information or to register and receive a reading list. Participants at any level will be asked to complete the same reading to enable conversation during class sessions.

The course will be offered Friday and Saturday, March 7-8, and April 4-5. Seabury is located at 2122 Sheridan Road in Evanston, Illinois. There is no set fee for anyone wishing to attend a class for personal enrichment without receiving academic credit. Payment of any amount will support the work and life of the seminary and enroll you in the course.

Parenting course for young adults

St. Mary's, Park Ridge will be hosting a seminar on parenting on Saturday February 16 from 9 am to 11:30 am. Parenting 401: Strategies for Parents of Young Adults will look at such questions as Is parenting your young adult child (18-29) different than what you expected? Are you looking for some support as you move into this new phase in the life of your family? This workshop is a time to learn from trained professionals, share challenges and joys with other parents, and grow in relationships. St. Mary's is located at 306 S. Prospect Avenue. For information call the parish office (847) 823-4126.

Absalom Jones Day observance

The Rev. Petero Sabune, chaplain at Sing Sing Correctional Facility in New York and associate at Trinity Church, Ossining, N.Y., will be the keynote speaker at the annual observance of Absalom Jones Day at St. Thomas, Chicago Sunday February 17. The observance, which begins at 3 pm, is being sponsored by the Chicago chapter of the Union of Black Episcopalians. Sabune was one of eight candidates for election as the 12th Bishop of Chicago at the annual Diocesan Convention this past November.

Absalom Jones, the first black priest in the Episcopal Church, was ordained in 1804. Jones, with Richard Allen, was among the first leaders of the African American community to lobby for the abolition of slavery. They formed the Free African Society in 1787 after being expelled from St. George's Methodist Church in Philadelphia after refusing to sit in the slave gallery. Later Jones and Allen organized nursing and burial efforts during a two-year yellow fever epidemic in Philadelphia, a ministry that won them praise throughout New England. While Allen chose to remain in the Methodist Church--forming the first black church in the United States--Jones chose to join the Episcopal Church, and founded St. Thomas African Episcopal Church in 1794.

St. Thomas Episcopal Church, Chicago, the diocese's first African American parish, is located at 38th Street and South Wabash Avenue. For information contact The Rev. Christopher Griffin chris61griffin@yahoo.com

Brent House hosts St. Matthew's Passion

Since Felix Mendelssohn's famous revival of the St. Matthew Passion in 19th-century Berlin, this monumental piece has exerted enormous influence on countless composers and musicians. Calling for three choruses, a double orchestra, and many skilled vocal and instrumental soloists, the Passion is a musical tour-de-force that is not soon forgotten. Prepare for Chicago Chorale's March 15 performance of the Passion with three prelude events orchestrated by Brent House:

Act I. Overture. The Baroque, Bach, and the Passion. Saturday, March 1, 3:00 p.m., Brent House
Organist and Roosevelt University professor David Schrader speaks on the composer, his era and the work.

Act II. Exposition. St. Matthew and the Passion. Saturday, March 8, 3:00 p.m., Brent House
Brent House chaplain Stacy Alan talks about Matthew's particular perspective on the events around Christ's trial and death."

Act III. Interlude. In Rehearsal: Chicago Chorale. Wednesday, March 12, 7:30-9:00 p.m., Hyde Park Union Church
Listen in as conductor Bruce Tammen leads Chorale members through its penultimate rehearsal. (Come or go as your schedule demands.)

Finale: The Concert. Saturday, March 15, 7:00 p.m., Church of the Holy Family
Chicago Chorale, conducted by Bruce Tammen, performs Bach's St. Matthew Passion
Performance is preceded by a 6:00 p.m. pre-concert talk by theologian Martin Marty.

Brent House tickets to The Passion include admission to the March 15 concert, as well as attendance at any or all of the prelude events. Donations are welcome to sponsor tickets for Brent House students. RSVP by Saturday, February 23. For more information, please call Lee Behnke at 773.324.2918 or email office@brenthouse.org.

Gulf Coast mission trip planned for August 2008

The Office of Youth and Young Adult Ministry has organized a second Gulf Coast mission trip this coming August for high school and college age youth and the adults who work with them. The week long mission, August 2 through 9 will be based at two of the Katrina work camps: Mission on the Bay in Bay St. Louis, Miss., and Camp Coast Care at Long Beach, Miss. High school and college youth teams will be based at Mission on the Bay while adults not working with the youth will be based at Camp Coast Care. Both teams have a limit of 50 persons. Cost has not been set. The organizers hope to keep the youth costs to $200 or less per student through fundraising efforts and diocesan subsidies. Travel will be by Amtrak from Chicago to New Orleans and then in rented vans to the Mississippi Gulf Coast.

The Diocese of Chicago's 2008 Mission Trip is a ministry to the people whose lives were affected by Hurricane Katrina in Bay St. Louis, Long Beach, Pearlinton, and other areas in Mississippi. Volunteers participating in the activities of the mission trip will be expected to be involved in specific repair and building activities including, but not limited to: gutting houses, cleaning debris, gardening, yard work, roofing, carpentry, dry walling, digging and building steps, plumbing, glasswork, insulating, painting, flooring, masonry, electrical wiring and other facets of repair, remodeling and renovation. These activities include, but are not limited to: the use of power tools such as saws and drills, as well as the use of hand tools. The foregoing activities will also require climbing with and without supplies, tools and materials as well as working in high places such as on roofs and other facets of construction work.

Volunteers may, in their free time, engage in non-sponsored activities including, swimming, or other sports activities of their choosing. Planned evening activities may include, but are not limited to: visiting the local community, traveling to visit places or people of regional interest.

An informational meeting will be held Saturday, February 23, 2008 from 2 – 4 pm at Grace Church in Oak Park. For more information contact Canon Sue Cromer at (312) 751-6722 or scromer@episcopalchicago.org
